About the GSGA:

Founded in 1916, the Georgia State Golf Association (GSGA) received its official charter on June 24, 1924. Since that date, the GSGA has grown to one of the largest state amateur golf associations in the country, with close to 340 member clubs and 70,000 individual members. With a mission to promote and preserve amateur golf in the state of Georgia, GSGA offers a computerized handicapping service, course rating and measuring, and annually conducts a full schedule of statewide competitions for men and women of all age groups. Other services include a summer-long junior golf program, award-winning Golf Georgia magazine, membership recognition and rewards programs, management of the Georgia Golf Hall of Fame and a charitable foundation administering college scholarship programs.

About the USGA P.J. Boatwright Jr. Internship Program:

The USGA P.J. Boatwright, Jr. Internship provides an opportunity for experience in entry level golf administration to qualified individuals.

Prior to his death in 1991, P.J. Boatwright, Jr. served the game of golf for many years as the Executive Director of Rules and Competitions for the United States Golf Association. He was most prominent during the U.S. Open, where he oversaw every phase of the competition, from selection and setup of the courses to the conditions of play. Furthermore, he was always on call to settle rules questions and was generally considered the world's leading authority on the Rules of Golf.

The USGA perpetuates a memorial tribute to P.J. Boatwright, Jr. through funding of the internship program for state and regional golf associations across the country. The GSGA will offer two paid, six-month internships in 2018, with each having the opportunity to gain experience in core functions of the GSGA. The start date of all internships will be no later than May 14, 2018.

GSGA Internship Activities:
